

Hilduara Estrada Prudencio, a farmer receiving training in organic farming from the organization CEDEP AYLLU in Peru, cultivates her field. Photo: Eleazar Cuadros

Lemonaid & ChariTea Foundation is looking for Intern: Communication (m/f/d).

Full-time. In Hamburg. 3 -6 months.

What it's about.

- + You support us in communicating about the foundation's work and our projects.
- + You contribute ideas for the communication topics of a small NGO.
- + General research work is part of your daily work, and you write down what's important.
- + You get to know our projects and their stories and help shape our blog.
- + You support us with all questions related to project coordination.
- + You pitch in wherever the team needs support.

Who we are looking for.

- + Ideally, you must complete a mandatory internship as part of your studies and are ideally studying communications, social sciences, political science, or economics.
- + You are enrolled at a university.
- + You enjoy taking on responsibility and, above all, enjoy a variety of tasks.
- + You speak and write English fluently (we would be happy to hear about additional language skills from one of our project regions).
- + An advantage: You already have some experience in international cooperation/NGOs and/or in the communications field.

What we offer.

With us, it is and remains exciting: an exciting and challenging role as part of the team of a young NGO that has access to growing funds every year to support projects in the Global South. The internship is compensated.

What next?

If you are interested, please send your detailed application (cover letter and CV) to: info@lemonaid-charitea-ev.org. Please state the position in the subject line of your email and send us the documents in PDF format (up to 5 MB).